Latest Update

Questionnaire and interview analysis continues to take longer than anticipated alongside other commitments however we have almost completed the work remaining. Preparations for drafting the High Level Business Case (setting out the perspectives and requirements of each Sector and the need for change) will now start on 28th July. The SBIF Advisory Group has approved an extended timeline to allow development of the Detailed Business Case (setting out the options evaluated and our preferred option) in late December and January given that workshop dates are now 18-19 September (data flow options), 17-18 October (service provision options), 9-10 November (governance options) and 4-5 December (funding options). DoodlePolls have this week gone out to over 180 SBIF Review stakeholders across all sectors and roles for them to indicate their availability and preferred workshops. Sponsors (BRISC, RSPB and SNH) have been found for the first three workshops and another has been in touch today who may sponsor the fourth. We have been allocated a 'primetime' slot at the NBN Conference in November to speak about our progress and partnership working.

Details of the Review and all highlight reports and approved papers are shared publicly (see https://nbn.org.uk/about-us/where-we-are/in-scotland/review/). ### Overview

Our vision for the Review is that it determines the optimum infrastructure for biological recording in Scotland, an infrastructure that in turn will attract the necessary belief, commitment and investment by stakeholders to be sustainable and successful in fulfilling the original vision of SBIF:

High quality species and habitat data will be collected and managed through a sustainable, co-ordinated and integrated local and national framework of organisations, partnerships and initiatives. These data will be available to ensure that Scotland's biodiversity, ecosystems and people benefit.

The Review will do this in such a way as to be cohesive across Scotland with support from all stakeholders and the willingness and energy to then make the transitions necessary to implement the new infrastructure by 2020.

Our objectives are:

- To build the energy and confidence of key stakeholders in the potential for an improved infrastructure that delivers the original vision of SBIF (above).
- To establish a register of all operational recording schemes and their operators so that data flows in Scotland are well-understood.
- To establish what funding and other income sources sustain the current infrastructure and what sources may continue to be available, or become available, in future.
- To hold stakeholder interviews to gain their current perspectives and to consult stakeholders on the infrastructure that they and their sector would need to meet their requirements.
- To run stakeholder workshops to identify the options for how these needs could best be fulfilled centrally, nationally and locally, and to evaluate these options in order to identify the preferred one(s).
- To identify where improved use of technology can help reduce duplication of effort and increase the efficiency of the biological recording infrastructure (so that data are made available for use and re-use).
- To identify what transition arrangements would be necessary to implement the preferred option(s).
